

A problem of interest in this article is statistical inferences concerning the common scale parameter of several Pareto distributions. Using the generalized p-value approach, exact confidence intervals and the exact tests for testing the common scale parameter are given. Examples are given in order to illustrate our procedures. A limited simulation study is given to demonstrate the performance of the proposed procedures.